- If you have Windows:

  1. Open Notepad (or Word).
  2. Write `This is my pdf`.
  3. File → Print → Select "Microsoft Print to PDF" → Save.

- If you have Mac:

  1. Open TextEdit (or Word).
  2. Write `This is my pdf`.
  3. File → Print → Save as PDF.

This creates a proper PDF without Opera involved at all.

Option 3: Use my server-g [Download file] DF but bypass Opera

- Right-click the link: Download example.pdf
- Choose "Save Link As" in Chrome, Edge, or Firefox, not Opera.

💡 Key takeaway: Opera GX's "Web Document" thing is literally intercepting PDF downloads. Any "save as" from Opera will always produce that format. You must use a different browser or print/export from Word/Google Docs.

If you want, I can make a tiny ZIP with all 5 example files (including a proper PDF) ready to drop into your repo, so you don't have to fight with Opera at all.

Do you want me to do that?
